

TTM Technologies Appoints National Sales Manager

March 29, 2000

REDMOND, WA March 29, 2000 -- TTM Technologies, a leading provider of complex printed circuit boards, today announced that Clay Swain has been named to the position of National Sales Manager. Clay will report to Brad Playford, VP of Sales and Marketing and work out of the Redmond office. Clay will primarily be responsible for exceeding sales objectives through the management of the field sales force and all field sales operations.

Prior to coming to TTM Technologies, Clay was the General Manager of the Logan division of Tyco Printed Circuit Group. Clay has over 11 years in the printed circuit industry. Prior to managing the Logan division operations, Clay was the Director of Sales at Tyco Printed Circuit Group.

"Clay's field sales experience and customer relationships in the printed circuit industry will be invaluable to broadening market penetration for TTM Technologies," states Brad Playford, VP of Sales and Marketing of TTM Technologies. We are pleased and very excited to have Clay on board with us at TTM."

For further information, contact Brad Playford at 714-241-0303.

About TTM Technologies

TTM Technologies assists its customers in bringing sophisticated electronic products to market faster by offering integrated (prototype, ramp-to-volume and volume) printed circuit board capabilities and services for the computing, telecom, instrumentation and various other markets. The Santa Ana Division services the time-critical prototype and ramp-to-volume segments of the PCB market. The Redmond division services ramp-to-volume and large-volume segments of the PCB market. On a combined basis, the company services over 400 customers, employs over 950 people and has annual revenue in excess of $125 million. Thayer Capital Partners, Washington D.C., and Brockway Moran Partners, Boca Raton, Florida, are the majority owners of the newly merged entity.