Today our board of directors appointed Julie S. England as a Class II director with a term expiring in 2017, to be effective upon approval from the United States Defense Security Service ("DSS"), pursuant to the Special Security Agreement between TTM Technologies, Inc. and DSS. After Ms. England's appointment the size of TTM's Board will consist of 10 directors, seven of whom are independent under Nasdaq rules.

There was no arrangement or understanding pursuant to which Ms. England was appointed as a director, and since the beginning of our last fiscal year there have been no related party transactions between Ms. England and our company.

Ms. England is presently retired. Prior to her retirement in 2009, she served in various capacities with Texas Instruments Inc., most recently as Vice President and General Manager of Radio Frequency Identification (RFID) division. She also served as Vice President of a microprocessor division from 1998 to 2004 and as Vice President of Quality for the Semiconductor Group from 1994 to 1998. Earlier, she held various engineering, manufacturing, quality and business management positions. Ms. England is an experienced independent corporate director serving on both private and public companies in the USA and Europe. Ms. England holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Chemical Engineering and graduate studies in business from Texas Tech University complemented with executive education at Harvard University and Stanford University.

Our board of directors has determined that Ms. England will be an independent director. Ms. England was nominated to the board of directors because of her extensive background in the technology industry and her experience serving on both private and public companies in the USA and Europe, particularly her corporate governance experience.
